HOMES

IT BROKE.
We have just completed a Chamber of Commerce week during which the keynote of getting ready for business increases was sounded. During that week several times we heard the statement that something was in the air and that it would mean much to Richmond.

It was in the air and though few suspected it, negotiations were going on that spelled the biggest industrial development that Richmond has had for some time.

And right on the heels of this big expansion on the part of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company, comes the announcement from the Richmond company that they are going to build 150 homes in the district to take care for the workers in the new plant.

Executives of the company are planning to have between 600 and 800 men employed at the plant within two years and of these at least one hundred and fifty are expected to make their homes in the community surrounding the factory. And that is a conservative estimate. But no matter how many may want to live in the district, there will be room for all.

The housing problem is going to be a real problem in Richmond in a short time and local boosters should keep a weather eye open for the possible developments along this line.

One of the first things that was taken up by the Standard company when it started negotiations for its million dollar expansion was homes for the workmen. That is the first or at least among the first things that every manufacturer is going to look for.

What are we going to do about it? The RECORD HERALD published a report a short time ago, which showed without question of a doubt that the building of homes in Richmond is not keeping up with the industrial and business development. Let's look it square in the eye and see what can be done about it.

ADDITIONS TO STANDARD CO WILL MAKE IT MOST MODERN

Building 100 by 800 feet to be Built to House Additions to Pottery of Company

A one and two story building one hundred feet in width and eight hundred feet in length will be constructed to house the new million dollar improvement of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company's plant on the Giant Road according to W. A. Potter, manager. This great addition to Richmond's industrial life is announced exclusively in the RECORD HERALD yesterday morning is heralded as one of the greatest improvements that has come to Richmond in recent years. Negotiations have been in progress for some time on the deal and were requested to close Broadway, a street immediately north of the plant.

The closing of this street is essential according to Potter to permit the construction of the two 250 foot kilns which are to be constructed at once. These new tunnel kilns are the latest in use for pottery manufacture and will be the only ones of this type on the Pacific Coast. They represent a tremendous saving of labor and fuel according to Potter.

In addition to the kilns the large structure to be built will house the mold shops, casting shop, and a warehouse. The plans have been completed and are now being held up pending final action on the closing of the road. Eight or nine months will be required to construct the improvement which will mean the addition of from 300 to 400 more men to the payroll of the company which is now one of the largest in the Eastbay region.

NEW CIVIL WAR STARTS IN CHINA

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 3.—New civil war in China with severe fighting about Tientsin and along the Peking-Hankow railroad was reported to the State Department today.

The war is described as between the so-called National armies, which now control the government of Peking and Tientsin and are supported by the government in Canton, and the allied forces of Wu Pei Fu and Chang Tso-Lin and possibly Sun Shun Fang.

General Wu's forces are attacking along the Peking-Hankow railway. The forces of Chang Tso-Lin, in Shantung, are attacking Tientsin and invading Honan.

MURDER SUSPECT
Says Evidence Was Planted
(By Universal Service)
EUREKA, March 3.—Jack Ryan, half-breed Indian, accused of slaying Carmen Wagner and Henry Sweet last October, while the couple was on a hunting trip in the Coyote Flat country, today was attempting to prove that the Wagner girl's watch, which was found in his clothes, was "planted" there by some unknown person.

A number of character witnesses were called to the stand, and all of them testified that Ryan was a quiet youth with many kindly traits.

GERMANY TO STAND FAST ON LEAGUE

(By Universal Service)
Special Wireless to Universal Service

BERLIN, March 3.—Looming above the storm which is raging with unabated political bitterness from one end of Europe to the other over Germany's admission to the League of Nations steady and immovable as the "German oak" he has often been called, Von Hindenburg, Germany's Field Marshal President, I am informed, has instructed the German Government which is going to Geneva headed by Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann, to remain hard as adamant in opposition to admitting Poland or Spain to the League council. At this extraordinary session, neither will be consent to Germany's hands being tied against the enlargement of the council in the September session.

The grim old president is said to deeply resent the web of intrigue which has been spun at the moment when Germany makes her formal application—which she was invited to make—and is alleged to hold the view that Germany must return home from Geneva with honor even if she is (Continued on Page 8)

Congress Plans To Double the U.S. Air Service

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Meeting by close votes all the various aviation programs pending before it, the house committee on military affairs today moved toward accepting a five-year program submitted by secretary of war Davis to upbuild the air service at a cost of $60,000,000 per year.

At the close of a tempestuous session, Chairman Morin announced that he will introduce a measure incorporating the program mapped out by Davis.

The war department project, submitted to the committee at the time it was rejecting various other plans, contemplates an air force of 1653 regular officers, 550 reserve officers on active duty, 15,000 enlisted men and 2200 airplanes.

It would involve approximately double the expenditures now made for air service purposes, including an additional annual allotment of $7,500,000 for airplanes.

In forwarding the program, secretary Davis explained that it represented a modification of earlier estimates to meet the principles laid down by the aircraft board.

Dwight W. Morrow, chairman of the President's aircraft board, was a conspicuous figure today. After advising the house committee against the establishment of a department of national defense, he conferred with Mr. Coolidge. He then agreed to appear before the committee again next Tuesday.

The committee slaughtered in rapid succession the various proposals before it for reorganization of the nation's air forces and for fundamental changes in national defense.

Although the vote in each case was close, the committee rejected the Morrow recommendations, the department of national defense, and a unified air service.

DEVELOPMENT GROUP OF C. C. HOLDS SESSION

The business development committee of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce of which E. H. Bull is chairman, met yesterday afternoon at the chamber office and worked on its program.

An enthusiastic meeting was held and the committee has already made rapid strides on the working out of some of the problems which face Richmond and its growth at the present time.

Interest to this city are to be brought up before this committee as a part of its regular work.

Another meeting is to be held on next Wednesday, when some of the plans which have been under consideration are expected to take definite form.

FRASER LOSES HAND IN GEARS

His hand crushed in the driving pinion of a motor at the Certain-ty plant here, R. E. Fraser was taken to the Emergency hospital Tuesday morning where it was found that the right hand, except the thumb, had to be amputated.

According to the officials at the Certain-ty Plant, Fraser, who is a pipe fitter, was working on a pipe and at the time was standing about four feet away from the motor. His wrench slipped and as he staggered backwards his hand was caught in the driving pinion.

DAMAGES OF $125,000 ARE GRANTED FOR LOSS OF LEGS

Record Damages Granted as Result of Key Pier Wreck A Year Ago

Setting a record in the amount of personal damages granted, a person in the United States a jury, in Judge Daniel C. Dease's court in San Francisco yesterday granted damages in the amount of $125,000 to Mrs. Olga Howe, 3491 Woodruff Avenue, Oakland for injuries received in a wreck of two trains of the Oakland Key System Pier a year ago. Mrs. Howe lost both of her legs in the wreck.

The Key System Transit Company, The San Francisco-Sacramento Railroad company and J. E. Compton motorman of the Key System Train are named as those who will have to pay the damage. According to attorneys the amount can be prorated or one of the defendants can be required to pay the entire amount.

The jury deliberated for two hours before bringing in the verdict giving the large amount of damages and inquired of the court at one time if it had authority to prorate the amount of the damages to be paid by each defendant. Upon being informed that it could not, it returned to the jury room and shortly thereafter returned the damage verdict.

This suit is one of several others that have been filed following the disastrous wreck on December 4, 1924 when ten were killed and more than forty were injured.

It is expected that the railroad companies will appeal the case as a stay in judgment has been asked for thirty days. Daniel E. Ryan attorney for Mrs. Howe is said to have a number of the other cases on file one of which is a suit for $250,000 asked by Mrs. Howe's husband because of damages due to the loss of his wife's services as housewife. It is expected that a number of the other suits will be brought to court in a short time.

Late Hours and Study Don't Jibe

(By Universal Service)

PALO ALTO, March 3.—Late hours and study do not go hand in hand. H. R. Laslett, graduate student in psychology at Stanford University made this declaration today in discussing some of his findings in the 72 hour sleepless test made by five students.

As the result of the test he declared that "cramming" until late hours the night before examinations will not help the student to pass this examinations for the simple reason that lack of sleep has a deteriorating effect on the higher mental powers.

Renwick to Attend Coast Trade Council

Charles S. Renwick, director of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce will attend the fourth annual convention of Pacific Foreign Trade Council to be held at the Hotel Whitecomb in San Francisco today. It is expected that more than a thousand bankers, manufacturers, agriculturists and transportation leaders will attend the meeting. This meeting is being held in conjunction with the conference of the rivers and harbors committee of the Pacific Coast, which held two sessions in San Francisco yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Silva, of 129 First street became the parents of a son on February 25.

BUILDING OF HOMES IS FOLLOWING IN WAKE OF BIG FACTORY EXPANSION

RICHMOND COMPANY IS TO START BIG BUILDING PROGRAM IN EASTERN SECTION OF CITY

Two hundred homes to be built in the East Richmond section to provide homes for the workmen of the million dollar addition to the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing plant was announced yesterday by the Richmond Company. According to Golden L. Downing secretary of the Richmond Company and president of the Appraisal and Sales Company which is the manager and administrator for the Richmond company, the building of the homes is planned in conjunction with the big improvement to be made at the Pottery on Giant Highway.

Approximately 150 homes will be built in the vicinity of the pottery site within the next two years and fifty homes are to be constructed at once in the vicinity of the new High School site according to Downing.

The first home in the tract near the High School, the Avon Lodge is at present under construction and five other homes are to be started within the week. This building program will be continued until the fifty homes in that district are completed and next spring the company expects to move on into the Rivers Tract and the Rose tract where the homes for the workmen of the Pacific Sanitary Company will be built.

The building of the homes in this district will follow in line with the improvements at the factory. It is expected that from 600 to 800 men will be working in the new plant within the next two years and of these at least 150 are expected to make their homes in the vicinity of the plant.

The tracts have been laid out and although the streets have not been improved complete improvement will be made before the homes are built according to Downing.

In the high school tract where the company owns 200 lots complete improvements are being put in. The opening of Rheem, Dunn, Maricopa and Lowell Avenues in that district with paving and complete improvements is seen as the first step in the growth of the section.

Council and C. C. Directors to Meet On Harbor Bids

The Richmond city council and directors of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce will meet with the bidders on the operation of the Richmond Municipal Wharf No. 1, this afternoon at the city hall.

At this time, according to Mayor W. W. Scott, the bids will be carefully gone over with the bidders and an attempt will be made by the council to select the bid, which is considered to be the most profitable to the city.

Definite action on the bids is expected at the session of the city council on Monday night.

STRIKERS AND POLICE IN A PITCHED FIGHT

(By Universal Service)

PASSAIC, N. J., March 3.—A pitched battle between five thousand striking mill workers and their sympathizers and foot and mounted police broke out shortly before 6 o'clock tonight on the outskirts of Passaic.

Three thousand strikers, returning from Garfield where they had held demonstrations, were halted by the police at the Passaic boundary-line and ordered to disperse. In the parley that followed the police were pelted with ice and snow. The police crashed into the crowd with their clubs, and then the motorcycle police rode down the strike leaders.

A general free-for-all battle followed, in which a group of civilians, under direction of the police, assaulted the newspaper men and photographers present, and smashed all cameras, shouting: "You'll never get a picture of this scrap."

Chinese Released On Lunacy Charge

Fong Wing, Stockton Chinese, who was recently charged with insanity following peculiar actions that alarmed passengers on a Santa Fe train, was freed yesterday by Superior Judge H. V. Alvarado. Apparently crazed, Wing wandered through the train and acted abusive, after which he was removed from the train at Richmond and taken to the county hospital. Physicians attributed his actions to illness.

PASSING OF RADICALISM

Twenty-three pre-war radicals have answered in a current magazine, the interrogation, "Where are the pre-war radicals?" of Frederick C. Howe in his book, "Confessions of a Reformer." All twenty-three concede the departure of both radical and radicalism and some are frankly glad of it.

Norman Hapgood observes, "The United States is happy making money. Labor has higher wages than ever before." He cites the failure of the LaFollette campaign in 1924 to raise an issue of national appeal as proof that discontent is foreign to the United States and that this country is barren ground to the seeds of radicalism.

"You can not dramatize the injustices of the present situation," remarks William Allen White, and yet it's a feeble injustice that radicalism can not dramatize. Fremont Older saw high wages make conservatives of labor during the war, while, in the opinion of Norman Thomas the American workman is "drunk with prosperity."

There is a strange similarity between the observations of Stuart Chase that "uplift as a crusading spirit, as a dedication, as a religion is comatose," and of William Allen White that "the old psychology won't work—the reformer's occupation is gone."

Gone in American politics are the days when "the muckrakers were best sellers, when trustbusters were swinging their lariats over every state capitol, when 'privilege' shook in its shoes, when God was behind the initiative, referendum and recall—and the devil shrieked when he saw the short ballot, when Masses was at the height of its glory and Utopia just around the corner."

The pre-war radicalism was crude and immature—judgments taking precedence over sound analysis in it—and it is doubtful if "the masses" today, even under economic conditions as unfavorable as the pre-war days, could be stampeded into accepting its thin-veiled fallacies as facts and its visionary panaceas as sure-cures.

FRIEND BUT NOT ALLY

The administration is willing to stand as a friend to business, big and little, but does not intend to be considered as an ally. This has been made distinctly clear through the action of Attorney General Sargent in filing in the United States District Court at Baltimore a "suit to prevent and restrain the formation of a huge combination in the baking industry. The suit was brought under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act and the Clayton Act. The filing of the suit followed the announcement of the formation of the $2,000,000,000 Ward Food Products Corporation under the laws of Maryland just a week ago."

For some months the department of justice has been following the developments in the baking and related industries and has given special attention to the several mergers that have taken place therein. The government asks that the defendants be adjudged to have violated both the Sherman and the Clayton Act; that three defendants be enjoined from doing any act in furtherance of the alleged combination.

The New York Times, in commenting says, "One of the results of this action has been to bring an immediate halt to plans being made in banking circles for additional and far-reaching mergers of enormous proportion. It is rather understood that the administration's attitude is that consolidations and mergers which originate in the management offices of various

CAPTAIN QUELCH, PIRATE

Up in Salem there lived a man named Quelch. One day he sailed out of the harbor in a regular privateer under the command of one Captain Ploughman. Just what happened during the next few weeks cannot be told. But after a while back into the bay at Salem came the privateer. But Captain Ploughman, had disappeared, just how and when is not known. And in his place was Quelch himself, now known as Captain Quelch.

Moreover the vessel was fair laden down with riches. She had cruised about among Portuguese ships and had seized everything that hands could carry away. Since England and Portugal were on war terms, this sort of plunder was deemed legitimate.

As soon as the booty was disposed of the vessel sailed out again. Again she sailed under Captain Quelch. His appetite had been sharpened by his success. He thirsted for even greater plunder.

While he was at sea on this voyage, England and Portugal came to peace. Of course Quelch couldn't know that peace was declared. Even if he had known it, perhaps he would have preferred to go on his buccaneering way. But he might have used greater caution. He was seized and imprisoned as a pirate. Of course he had been merely acting as he had acted before. But no excuse seemed valid. He was tried as a pirate. It is thought that perhaps greed for a share in the spoils that were found on his ship had something to do with the rapidity and conviction at his trial. His fate was the same as that of the famous Captain Kidd. Since piracy was a great career in that day for adventuresome youth, it is likely that there are hundreds of thrilling tales of daring buccaneers that have never been told. Perhaps they died with the pirates themselves.

VARIATIONS OF THE FULL HEMLINE

Paris does not lack versatility when it comes to handling the full line. A splendid example of what may be done without the aid of plaits or panels is illustrated in the frock to the left, with a circular skirt of plain taffeta and tight-fitting front-closing blouse of plaid silk. Buttons form a prominent note in the trimming of the model, and the collar is outlined with ribbon that corresponds with the color of the buttons. Medium size requires 1 yard 36-inch lining for top of skirt, 1 1/4 yard 36-inch plain and 2 1/4 yards plaid silk. The two-piece suit never lacks novelty—note model to the right. Flat crepe is used for its development, the front of the blouse being gathered on the shoulders, with the V-shaped neck trimmed with striped silk. Puffs and pocket-trims of the striped silk are also in keeping with the best traditions of the Paris mode. Medium size requires 3 1/4 yards 36-inch plain, 1/2 yard striped silk, and 1 1/4 yard 36-inch lining.

INQUIRING MOTORIST

Asks Questions of Walter P. Chrysler

CHRYSLER CORPORATION

QUESTION: When does a motor car manufacturer reduce prices?

ANSWER: When he has effected economies which make price reduction possible. Often he is compelled to because of competitive conditions.

QUESTION: Does increase in production usually mean lowered manufacturing costs per unit?

ANSWER: Usually, but not always. There is a point beyond which economies cannot be realized regardless of how great production is.

QUESTION: What is the principal means of reducing costs of motor cars?

ANSWER: Improvement in efficiency of operation. Efficiency in operation means economic maintenance. Ability to buy wisely is an important element in determining costs. It is there that the manufacturer with large production has the advantage of the small manufacturer in that he can take advantage of his mass purchase power.

QUESTION: Do you believe in the small, independent manufacturer?

The GOLDEN COCOON

by RUTH CROSS

Copyright, 1924, by Harper & Brothers
"The Golden Cocoon" with Helene Chadwick is a picturization of this novel by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Mrs. Molly Cochran invited Arthur Bancroft to a large dinner at the Governor's house because he was visiting at the home of one of the other guests. He turns out to be an eastern lawyer of a different political faction than the Governor. A few mornings later, Mrs. Cochran is surprised to receive a call from Stephen Renfro, a former dance, who wants her to influence Cochran to support him for Governor. She declares Cochran always makes his own decisions.

CHAPTER XXIV—Continued

If anyone should ask, as Arthur Bancroft was asking of his pretty and plump partner while they stood waiting to fall in line for the grand march, why people dance in such a climate, her answer might serve. "Well, we must dance, and it's the only climate we have."

A little later he was bowing over the hand of Mrs. Cochran the younger.

"I've just learned that there is to be an extra after the fourteenth," he said. "That's the one you promised me, you know."

"Was it the one after the fourteenth?"

"Yes, I've been trying all evening to get near enough to remind you, but you've been so absolutely beautiful."

"Oh, just these university boys—friends of Larry's. Larry's my brother, you know." She gave a smiling, affectionate nod in the direction of the "tall chap with the red hair."

When the orchestra began to tune for the next dance, Bancroft looked down at Molly. "Am I to have the honor?"

"Would you mind—staring it out?" she asked. "These irrepresible youths have just about danced me down."

"You don't look it, but—as you like." He made a suggestive motion toward one of the balconies.

She did not know that he had spoken. She was looking about vaguely for some physical means of escape from the thing that was closing in on her. It did not occur to her to deny it, to fence, to play for time. She knew, and she knew that he knew. He was the man who had been standing over by the stairs—strange as she had not recognized him before. But she had been beside herself—her brain a camera without a negative.

Molly let her eyes rest a moment on the face of the man opposite. "It's impossible for me to do what you ask about Mr. Renfro's election," she said. "What do you propose?"

He shrugged. "I prefer not to go into details. You can do as you find, on cooler thought, you can do—just about anything—rather than have your husband know."

He made a significant pause. "He made a significant pause."

She set that aside with the briefest of gestures. "He does know."

Bancroft shot a keen glance at her. "Are you quite sure?"

"Quite."

He turned that over in his mind. "In that case, your husband will do—just about anything. If this little matter should become, let us say, public property—take it from any angle, it spells ruin for him. He would be simply horse-laughed out of the state. To make no mention of the disgrace for you. Of course—he threw out a deprecating hand—"things will not come to such a pass. Neither Mr. Renfro nor I have any but the friendliest feelings about it."

He was the man who had been standing over by the stairs—strange as she had not recognized him before. But she had been beside herself—her brain a camera without a negative.

Molly gazed at him fascinated. That was the last brick in the crypt he was walling up around her. She had watched it preparing. She saw him now ditting it deftly into its niche, looking about cheerfully for mortar and trowel—smiling at her while in the friendliest way. He was friendly, that was the curious part about it.

"You have me, of course," she said. "I'll have to try what I can do. But it will take time."

Bancroft's face cleared. He was relieved to have the affair settled with so little fuss and bother. His admiration mounted a peak. "I'm glad, you're so sensible about it. He declared. "But you won't be long . . . ? The primaries are less than a month off, you know."

"Yes, I know. Within a few days—a week at most—I will communicate with Mr. Renfro."

"We may consider it settled, then?"

"Yes. And now, if that's all."

She made a slight intimation that she wished to be alone.

As he was turning away with a deep bow, Sarah Cochran appeared suddenly in the archway that gave on the corridor. She stood framed there a moment against the brilliantly lighted background—taller than Molly had ever seen her, ineffably magnificent, ineffably correct. She seemed actually to dilate, to fill the whole space of the archway—a black brocade statue on heroic lines.

"Everything believe me."

"If you'll pardon me—I see my

Equalization of Inheritance Tax In Nation Will Work for The Benefit of California

By RAY L. RILEY
State Controller of California
The bid made by the State of Florida for population by writing into its constitution a section preventing the enactment of a state inheritance tax has been rendered entirely useless by the inheritance tax provision in the new federal tax bill, which has just become a law. But little attention has been paid to the inheritance tax provision of the new federal law because of the contest that arose between the House of Representatives and the Senate over many of the items of the bill and because of the large size of the gross reductions, but the inheritance tax section is of more local interest to California than to any other state except Florida itself. As the state official charged with the administration of the state inheritance tax, and as one who has given constant study and attention to the developments leading up to the final writing of the new federal tax bill, I am probably qualified to explain both the history and the probable results of the new federal law in its relations to California conditions.

California, and particularly the southern part of the state, has been much concerned for some time over the grand gesture made by Florida in writing into its constitution a section preventing the state from imposing an inheritance tax. To many this was thought to spell the doom of the tourist business of California and the driving to Florida for residence of every millionaire in the United States. All tax laws are complicated and many did not stop to consider that Florida could only say to the millionaire that they would not tax his home and such investments as he might make within the state, but that they could not prevent other states of the Union from taxing his property within the limits of those other states. Neither did many stop to study the amendments made by the last legislature to the California law by which this law was liberalized. Everywhere seemed to be a fear, no matter how unwarranted, of the Florida action.

The Florida grand gesture has been made futile by the inheritance tax provision of the new federal law, and California need no longer worry, rightly or wrongly.

The basic idea of the new federal law is to equalize the inheritance tax laws of the different states, so that no one state would have an advantage, real or fancied, such as Florida attempted to obtain. To do this, a credit is allowed in the payment of the federal inheritance tax of the full amount paid to each state under the state law up to 80 per cent of the total amount of the federal levy. If, as in the case of Florida, there is no state inheritance tax, then the full amount goes to the federal government. If a state has a very low rate the federal government gets a larger proportion than where a state rate exists that approximates the 80 per cent credit that is allowed for payments to states. A rate that is so high as to exceed the 80 per cent credit does not increase the credit allowed the state. The inevitable result of this new provision of the federal law will be to force the equalization of state taxes; the inequality of which has become a crying evil, some states like Florida, going so far as to entirely abolish the tax, thus establishing what has come to be known as "isles of safety for the millionaire."

The net result of this inheritance tax provision of the new federal law will be to lay the bogie of Florida as far as California is concerned, for Florida will be compelled to enact an inheritance tax law or allow all of the money assessed for estate taxes in that state to go to the federal government. Instead of Florida forcing the hand of California, the tables have been turned and the hand of Florida has been forced. The bogie is now on the other leg.

While backing out of a parking place on Macdonald avenue between Eighth and Ninth streets last night, a car driven by Mrs. Georgina Wilbur of 312 Ninth street was struck by a car driven by an unknown driver. The force of the blow sent Mrs. Wilbur's car into a parked car owned by Daniel Jacks of San Pablo. Neither car was badly damaged.

CALIFORNIA TO TAKE PART IN SAFETY SESSION

California will take a prominent part in the national safety conference to be held at Washington, D. C. the 23 and 25 of this month. Governor Friend W. Richardson today appointed Mrs. D. E. F. Easton of San Francisco, chairman of the California Public Safety Conference, and Mrs. R. L. Cardiff, prominent in the State Parent-Teachers Association and vice-chairman of the California Public Safety Council, as delegates from this state to the national meeting.

Backed by an organization of 270,000 women of California Mrs. Cardiff, and Mrs. Easton are now successfully leading this state into a position of safety leadership. California is the only state in the union at the present time where the women have taken the reins of safety into their own hands and, through statewide organization, are driving out the careless pedestrian and reckless driver.

The women of California are determined, according to Mrs. Easton, to make this state a safety spot for motorists. The National Public Safety Conference, of which Herbert Hoover is the guiding figure, has no more than one occasion given official recognition to the splendid work being done by California women in protecting the life and limb of our citizens.

The California safety organization, fostered by the Women's Division of the California Development Association, commenced an intensive safety drive at the beginning of this year. Safety weeks have been held in San Francisco and Fresno to date, and it is contemplated to hold a series of 24 other safety weeks in the larger metropolitan areas of the state.

W. D. Walker, Chief of Police of Fresno, commenting on the benefits of safety week, today sent the following telegram to Mrs. Helen Lucile Holt, director of the Women's Division of the California Development Association and secretary of the Safety Council: "Safety week huge success. Three accidents only in entire week. Former average nine per day."

California women to date have secured the signatures of more than 200,000 motorists to safety pledges, and through local community committees are driving to procure a 100 per cent signature to safety pledges before the end of the year.

Educational work in the schools and homes of California will soon be undertaken by the California Safety Council.

Mrs. Easton and Mrs. Cardiff will report to the national body the accomplishments in safety that have been secured in this state and will advocate similar methods of safety operation for the other states of the union. It is their belief, according to Mrs. Easton, that the women of the nation can save thousands of lives a year by intensive and continuous safety effort.

The slogan of the California campaign is "S. O. S.—Safety or Sorrow."

Legion to Make State An Ideal Camping Ground

American Legion posts of California have accepted the task of making this state the ideal camping community of the nation. Concrete tables and benches and commodious brick ovens and fireplaces are to be built on various camp ground sites; constructed as everlasting monuments of California progress and giving comfort to the motoring tourist.

The California Development Association, responding to the request of the American Legion of California for some constructing work which they could carry on outlined this program of camp building. The following 15 posts of the state have informed the Association that they would build a modern camp ground: San Francisco Posts Nos. 296 and 234, Fort Bragg, Turlock, Selma, Fellows, Burlbank, Santa Rosa, Modesto, Delhi, Orland, Compton, Rio Vista, Kintner, and Bakersfield.

Nine other posts have joined in the conservation work of the Association by forming volunteer forest fire prevention brigades to co-operate in the work which the California Development Association each year carries on during fire danger season to prevent the destruction of California's wealth of forests.

Cesspool Murder Trial Jury Is Being Selected

(By Universal Service)
STOCKTON, Calif., March 3.—Tomorrow the trial of Mrs. Luisa Zamora, charged with the murder of little Lenora Aguilar at Tracy, December 25, 1924, may start in earnest. Today a jury was being selected.

Both sides promise sensational. The defense recently intimated that the girl was alive.

The body of a girl decided by the prosecution as being that of the missing child was dug from an old cesspool on the premises occupied by the Zamoras a short time after they hastily left Tracy last September. Zamora was a railroad laborer. He has never been found.

SCOTT TO FACE MURDER JURY

CHICAGO, March 3.—Robert Scott, taken from a California penitentiary and brought here, to face a charge of murder, will be arraigned tomorrow.

Two attempts were made by Scott's attorneys today to free him on a writ of habeas corpus. Both failed. He was remanded to custody of the sheriff and lodged in jail.

Robert Scott is a brother of Russell Scott, under sentence to hang for the murder of Joseph Maurer, a drug clerk, during a holdup. Russell Scott was saved from the gallows on an insanity plea. He was committed to the state insane asylum after Detroit and Chicago clubwomen and social workers waged a battle in his behalf.

Russell Scott pleaded that he did not kill Maurer, that the fatal shot was fired by his brother, Robert. He claimed Robert could clear him if he would surrender and tell his story of the crime. But Robert could not be found by the authorities.

Two months ago Robert Scott was found in San Quentin penitentiary, he was serving four years there for robbery in California, and about to be released on parole. The California authorities finally paroled him to the Illinois authorities to stand trial for murder in Chicago.

William Scott Stewart, attorney for Robert Scott, expressed the belief that his client would be acquitted. It was pointed out that Russell Scott had testified that Robert fired the fatal shot. Russell is legally insane and it is impossible that his testimony would now be accepted in court even if he was disposed to stick to his story that Robert was the slayer.

Robert Scott reached here in custody of Chicago detectives this morning. He refused to discuss the slaying of Maurer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Olney, of 500 Nevins avenue, will spend the week-end at their ranch in Oakley leaving Friday. They will be accompanied by their daughters, the Misses Mary, Jane and Grace Olney.

Play Gives Italy Serious Problem

By JOHN T. DURKE

(By Universal Service)

MILAN, March 3.—Gabriele D'Annunzio and Ida Rubinstein may have to withdraw the representation of the poet's fantastic spectacle scheduled for next Monday at the scale, or face a riot.

The Catholic organizations of Milan have just lodged an emphatic protest against the production of D'Annunzio's "Martyrdom of San Sebastiano," in which the "superb idea" has the star role, on the ground that it is offensive to the Christian sentiment.

In view of the delicate relations existing between the Vatican and Mussolini, the protest is regarded as a political event of the first magnitude.

It is recalled that the pope originally came from Milan. D'Annunzio's writings have been under the ban of the Vatican for years. Recently the Pope declined to participate in the ceremonies attending D'Annunzio's elevation to the title of Prince of Montenevoso.

On the other hand, it is known that Premier Mussolini cherishes the friendship of the famous poet and is anxious to retain his support and goodwill.

Woman May Die From Bad Burns

(By Universal Service)

STOCKTON, Calif., March 3.—Mrs. Albert McCoy, ranch woman living near Lodi, may die of burns received today at noon when pouring distillate into the kitchen range to hasten the fire. In the explosion following, her clothing was set on fire and she was burned about the head, face, arms and upper part of the body. She ran into the yard screaming for help. John Throaway came to her aid and rolled her in the sand, extinguishing the flames.

Car and Garage Are Burned Here

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the garage and machine of Captain William Moore of the fire department last night. The cause of the fire is thought to be a short circuit in the car, an Elgin six, which caught fire and then set the garage.

ELLIOTT SAYS INDIGESTION HURTS NERVES

A large audience heard Dr. J. Elliott last night at the Christian church on indigestion and torpid liver. The subject tonight will be Nervous Indigestion and Insomnia or Sleeplessness. Chief causes of disease and eating for health will be discussed Friday 2:30 and Prevention of disease and constipation at 7:30. Subject today 2:30 Eating for Health.

"Sleeping in the wrong place is a bad habit. Many go to church concert, or entertainment and are asleep in fifteen minutes. They go to bed and are awake for hours. Nervous indigestion is the chief cause of this wire-crossing or complex" says Elliott.

"What is nerve force? No scientific answer has ever been given. Nerve force is to the human body and brain, what sunlight is to the universe; what electricity is to the industrial world; what dynamite is to the navy, and powder is to the army. Nerve force is the impelling power of efficiency in man."

"Nervous indigestion wrecks nerve, muscle, blood, and brain cells and is the highway to mental destruction and insanity. The chief causes of nervous indigestion is an improper food supply and the loss of sleep. Overeating wrong combinations of food, the poisonous foods, all condiments fat and greasy foods, rich and highly seasoned foods, lack of mastication, a torpid liver and a stagnant blood stream, are the chief causes of nervous indigestion."

"Sound refreshing sleep is an absolute essential for prevention or cure of nervous indigestion. Sleep is the dynamo for recharging shattered nerves, as well try to run your electric auto without recharging your batteries, as to maintain the nerve force of the body without sound refreshing sleep. Worry is the greatest enemy to sleep." Admission is free to all lectures. The public is cordially invited.

FIREMEN AND HIGH NINE IN HOT BATTLE

The murder that was committed yesterday, and which some humorous person called a baseball game between the high school nine and the firemen, ended in a 9-9 tie when the firemen declared that they would have to call it a day and go to work. It was lucky that the game ended in the sixth inning for another inning of the slaughter would have played out the hurlers.

The thing started with the firemen leading in the third inning with the score standing 6-3. Then the murder commenced.

Baseball, football, hockey, polo and a dash of tennis was added to the game. Stolen bases on both sides were common.

The high school nine started the fifth inning by a bingle that the fielders obligingly missed. From then on it was a question of getting to first base and from then on their troubles were over. With perfect ease they strided down to second base, third base and then strolled home. The score stood tied 6-6.

In the beginning of the sixth canto the firemen, aided by errors on the part of the high school nine scored three runs.

In the last of the sixth the slaughter waged terrible. Every man for himself. Three runs scored and the game was called off. Whereupon the score keeper announced that he had kept track of the errors but unfortunately he had forgotten to bring his adding machine and had not added up the stolen bases.

The batteries were:
High school: Villa, Lovos and Gualdoni.
Firemen: Marvin and Martin.

Suzanne May Be Named In Divorce Action In N. Y.

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, March 3.—A cable dispatch from New York tells of the betrothal of Charles Wilen, American dentist, and Suzanne Lenglen, tennis champion, today brought out that Wilen is already married to a young Brooklyn woman.

Mrs. Charles H. Wilen, of No. 1418 Park Place, Brooklyn, declares that on June 14 last, she became the bride of Wilen. She is still married and is considering the advisability of an action for annulment.

When first came into the limelight three years ago when he went to Paris with Mrs. Nellie Adele Browning, whom Edward W. Browning, millionaire realtor and "Cinderella-Man" subsequently divorced. Hardly had the reverberations of that scandal died away when Renee sheppard, motion picture actress, brought suit against Wilen for $100,000, charging breach of promise to marry.

Mrs. Charles H. Wilen is twenty-six years old. Her maiden name was Belle Reiser. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Louis Reiser, who live at the Park Place address. Mr. Reiser is a well-to-do manufacturer with a factory in the East Side of Manhattan.

Burns Is Favorite Over O'Hara In Bouts Fri. Night

Bobby Burns, the good little Oakland junior welterweight who meets Toddy O'Hara in the 10 round main event of the Richmond Athletic club's fight card Friday evening is a slight favorite among the warying amateur boxing fans. The odds are quoted at 10 to 9.

William Bernheim, the editor of the Redhead weekly, came out with a prediction today that the rotund Burns, in his estimation, would outbox the hard punching O'Hara and win the decision. Bernheim has been picking fights for many years and therefore should know whereof he is talking about. Burns finished his training yesterday at the Imperial in Oak and today he was picking up a light limbering up today will be fit and ready for the battle of his life tomorrow.

O'Hara who is training at the Royal Athletic club in San Francisco, likewise tapered off conditioning today. O'Hara believes he will win by a knockout in the sixth round semiwild. Miller, who is training at the Royal Athletic club in San Francisco, likewise tapered off conditioning today. O'Hara believes he will win by a knockout in the sixth round semiwild. ## AIRPLANE RATE TO BE SAME AS THE RAIL RATES

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—That the network of airlines covering the United States will carry the ordinary traveler for rates as cheap or possibly cheaper than the present railroad system because of the belief of Irving W. Glover, second assistant postmaster general. This statement was made at a luncheon given by Captain Robert Dollar yesterday in the Italian room of the St. Francis Hotel of which Glover was the guest of honor.

The evidence for this prophecy is shown in the contract awarded the air mail for the transportation of passengers between Los Angeles and Pasco, Nevada. The fare being used by the rail lines will be the same as that charged by the air route, which Glover emphasized, brought the relation of the air transportation closer to the public service.

There were no regular passenger carrying services before the department let contracts for carrying air mail on feeder lines. There are now virtually twelve other lines to be opened following the award. Within the next few months a total of 125 planes will be purchased from American manufacturers to be used on these twelve lines.

The facts given by Glover yesterday show that during 1925 the air mail service traveled 2,551,000 plane miles, carried 9,900,000 letters, 232,000 pounds of mail. Only $10,000,000 have been expended since 1918 when the air mail service was inaugurated.

MEMORIAL HALL BOARD MEET

A short business session of the Memorial hall board of trustees was held last night with J. J. Gilmore in charge.

ALUMNI CAGE GAME IS SET FOR MARCH 12

The high school alumni basketball game has been set for March 12, according to Pete Moore, who is managing the alumni basketball team. He has announced that the men he will use that night will be: O'Brien, Chatterton, Lee and Lemkuhl at forwards; Pitchford and Fanning, centers; Vargas, Campbell, and Pete Moore, guards.

Walter Siegle, who has charge of the alumni band, reports that about 53 bandmen were present at practice last night and he has warned all men who do not show up for practice next week that they will not be able to play on the night of the game.

Siegle is confident that his band will be the hit of the evening.

Frank McKnight Elected Head of New Tennis Club

Frank McKnight was elected head of the Richmond Tennis club by acclamation last night. Other officers who were elected included: Helen Gately, vice-president; Reta Dreyssprings, secretary; and W. J. Kruger, treasurer.

City manager J. A. McVittie was the chief speaker of the night. He declared that the new club would get his support and the favorable opinion from the city. He declared that the Tennis club in this city has started out good as there are five courts here and shower baths for the members. He also declared that a certain hour of the day will be set for the express purpose of allowing the members to use the city courts.

Other members named for the organizing and governing body were: Doc Seawright, member at large; A. Rummel, W. A. Hunn, Helen Gately, Marvin Clark, Mike O'Neil, N. Chassaur, Reta Dreyssprings and F. McKnight.

The members voted to have the Richmond club enter the Lawn Tennis Association and it was voted to have McKnight present at the next sessions of the state association.

Wets Win But Lose Says W. B. Wheeler

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 3.—Declaring that the "wets" win straw vote and lose election" Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the anti-saloon league today issued a statement assailing newspaper polls on prohibition.

"They are misleading" said Wheeler.

"Colorado and Ohio newspaper survey recorded, a large majority for beer and light wine, while an official state referendum rejected them," he said.

Miss Wills Adds Another Scalp to Ever Growing List

(By Universal Service)
MENTONE, Mar. 3.—Helen Wills added another National champion to her fast growing list of illustrious tennis victims when she defeated Frau Noppach, Germany's leading woman player, in the Mentone tournament here today. Like Mile, Contoslavos, the Greek champion and Senorita de Alvarez, Spain's premier woman player, Frau Noppach fell before the powerful racket of the youthful American in straight sets, 6-0, 6-3.

Miss Wills also advanced two rounds in the international mixed doubles. She and her partner J. H. Van Allen of New York and Philadelphia first defeated Miss Yeoward and Mr. Yeoward in the initial round, 6-1, 6-1. They later won a second round match from Miss Harvey and Hodges of Great Britain, 6-4, 6-2.

Frau Noppach's nervousness made the first set easy for the cool-headed American. The German champion, however, steadied in the second set and managed to hold her own until the games score reached 3-all. Then Miss Wills added a bit more power to her strokes and quickly ran out the match.

Although Miss Wills is one to keep her own counsel, tennis followers cannot help but sense her deep disappointment in not being able to meet Miss Lenglen till Wimbledon. Experts are advising her to get plenty of practice on turf before the June meeting as Suzanne has a known partiality for grass courts. Helen on the contrary is accustomed to the hard California playing surface.

McLarin Wins From Sangor In The Third Canto

(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, March 3.—Jimmy McLarin the Vancouver flash stopped the featherweight aspirations of Joey Sangor, by the knocking out of the Milwaukee boy in the third round at the Olympic auditorium here tonight.

The end came unexpectedly while Sangor was fighting strongly. After a flurry of rights and lefts McLarin shot a left hook to the chin and Sangor went down and out.

Sangor fought aggressively from the beginning of the first round, but failed to make much impression on McLarin, whose blows had much punch behind them. McLarin showed to better effect in tonight's bout than on any of his previous appearances here. His boxing was superb. He seemed satisfied to lay back and outpoint the Milwaukee fighter, until the opening came for the punch that ended the bout.

deep disappointment in not being able to meet Miss Lenglen till Wimbledon. Experts are advising her to get plenty of practice on turf before the June meeting as Suzanne has a known partiality for grass courts. Helen on the contrary is accustomed to the hard California playing surface.

The First Message

"MR. WATSON, come here; I want you!" exclaimed Alexander Graham Bell on March 10, 1876, during an afternoon of experimentation, and over a wire connecting two rooms, the young assistant heard the words,—the first spoken sentence to be so transmitted.

• Fifty years have passed. Today there are 17,000,000 telephones in the United States, giving voice to human need, as Bell's crude transmitter did then. Fire breaks out in the night; law-breakers invade a home; sickness strikes at a family circle. "Come here, I want you," is the summons, and the telephone speeds it on the way. Business of importance demands the decision of one who is on the far side of the continent. "Come here, I want you," is the summons again, and as if by magic, a personality is projected through space, questions are asked, answers given, problems solved—by telephone.

Every telephone call is an echo of the first message. For whether it is the physical presence or the listening ear that is desired, the impulse that lifts the telephone receiver is, "I want you."

ALL RECORDS ARE BROKEN IN SECOND DAY OF WILD SELLING ON NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, Mar. 3.—After five hours of frenzied battle in the biggest market of all time, all records in stock transactions on both the stock exchange and the curb market were broken today while the bears continued to shatter prices in many major issues. More than 2,000,000 shares changed hands on the exchange, which is the highest volume of transactions in its history. For the first time in the history of the curb transactions in that market exceeded a million shares.

When the market closed at 3 o'clock some stocks showed a shrinkage from 20 to 75 points from the high of the year. From the first moment it was essentially a conflict between the bulls—who had had a day of almost unprecedented victory—and a certain group of bankers determined to protect those issues in which they and their creditors were heavily interested.

The decline in prices began with rails, liquidation and short selling following the failure of the proposed Nickel Plate merger to meet the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Nickel Plate itself tumbled 33 points to 130. Pere Marquette lost 12 and Erie 7. Chesapeake and Ohio—a road whose minority stockholders had protested against its being included in the merger—held its ground.

The selling then spread to industrials, oil and motor stocks in general. Some of these crashed from 5 to 25 points in the last hour, wiping out all previous gains since the market's meteoric rise, beginning last November.

When selling orders flooded the market such strong issues as Pullman, Mack Trucks, and Consolidated Gas declined rapidly, especially in that fateful last hour when the profits of many men evaporated like vapor in the sun's rays.

American Can collapsed 24 points in a short period of trading, while railroads besides those in the Nickel Plate group which had merger ambitions also declined as their issues were tossed on the market in seeming reckless fashion.

Pittsburgh and West Virginia alone crashed more than eight points, and Rutland Preferred, in which there is a more or less inactive market, sagged 10.

During the morning hours the heavy selling had a tendency to undermine the market foundations of such representative stocks as Union Pacific, New York Central and others, but these and rail shares in a similar class were well bought every time they showed a tendency to drop.

It was not a bear day in all issues, however. Interests with heavy investments in certain lines protected them to the limit. Among these were Allied Chemical, which rallied more than 3 points but closed at a loss. American Foreign Heavy more than 4, and Savage Arms more than 2.

From the opening moment until the last second of the afternoon session the floor of the stock exchange in particular resembled nothing more than a mad-house with all patients becoming violent at the same moment.

Men in those groups around posts where the most active trading was being conducted had their coats torn, their ties and collars ruffled and disarranged, and more than a score of pairs of nose glasses dropped in the mad scramble to buy and sell.

Some brokers rode early from the financial scrimmage, delegating their labors to assistants, and sought rest at their homes. Others withstood the day's impacts, and at its end dropped like men who had been through some experience as devastating physically as it had been financially to many of them.

THIRTY TWO HORSES DIE IN BIG FIRE

A fire of mysterious nature destroyed the barn of the Bishop ranch at San Ramon yesterday causing the burning to death of thirty-two valuable work horses along with the destruction of a large amount of hay and grain and farm machinery. The ranch is owned and operated by Frank Rutherford.

When the fire was discovered at 2 o'clock yesterday morning it was found to have spread to nearly every part of the barn, the highly inflammable contents burning like tinder. The horses, which were employed at the farm, were quietly munching their grain when the fire started and they were soon completely surrounded by a wall of flames which offered no means of escape. As the flames literally cremated the animals, their screams could be heard for miles.

The Danville fire department responded to the alarm and the fire was soon confined to one barn alone by a hard working volunteer bucket brigade. The barn with its contents represented an approximate loss of $15,000.

During the morning hours the heavy selling had a tendency to undermine the market foundations of such representative stocks as Union Pacific, New York Central and others, but these and rail shares in a similar class were well bought every time they showed a tendency to drop.

LOADED COAL CARS ON SIDINGS AT SCRANTON, PA., READY TO BE HAULED AWAY TO FILL EMPTY BINS

The day after the end of the longest anthracite coal strike in history, this photograph was taken at Scranton, Pa. It shows loaded cars on the railroad sidings waiting to be hauled away to alleviate the sufferings of coal shortage victims.

CHILD HURT IN COLLISION

Car driven by Jack Patterson of 44 Nicholl avenue collided with a car driven by an unknown driver at Second street and Chittenden boulevard last night. Patterson's wife received scratches upon the hand while his child received a cut below the knee. The unknown driver stopped long enough to see that aid was rendered to the people in the damaged car and then drove away.

FRANCE-URGED TO PAY DEBTS

(By Universal Service)
PARIS, March 3.—Diplomatic channels have been used to hint to Paris that it is advisable for France to speed up her debt negotiations. It is learned from authoritative finance sources tonight.

Germany to Stand Fast On League

forced to withdraw her application at the last moment. That would happen should admission on the basis agreed upon at Locarno be made impossible.

The German government, it was said today reckons with the possibility that Mussolini, in his sudden burst against Germany may go so far as to veto Germany's entrance should Sweden persist in her granite-like attitude, blocking the admission of Poland and Spain.

Remote as this may be it is considered a possibility and the long conference today with President Von Hindenburg and the cabinet by Baron Von Neurath, the German Ambassador at Rome, is considered significant.

There was a strong pessimistic note in Wilhelm's despatch today. It was emphatically denied that any assurance had come from London that the claims of Poland, Spain and Brazil would not be pressed at this session.

Two compromise plans contained in Semi-official Renter dispatches from London that Spain be admitted to a permanent seat at the same time with Germany, and that the latter obligate herself not to oppose the admission of Poland in September, are declared wholly unacceptable.

While the belief is general that Germany will enter the League now, it is also true that preparations for a retreat are not being neglected. Veiled threats that Spain will withdraw from the League if her claim is not granted and similar intimations from some of the British dominions if the enlargement of the council is considered, are making the situation more serious.

Kellogg Stands Pat On Admission of Countess Karyilu

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—Instead of lifting the shroud of mystery surrounding the exclusion of Countess Catherine Karyilu, secretary of State Kellogg today insisted before the Senate foreign relations committee that the war time law under which the Hungarian noble woman was refused a passport should not be repealed.

Not only did Kellogg decline for "reasons of state" to discuss the exclusion of the Countess but told the committee that it is imperative that the government maintain the power to arbitrarily bar aliens from the United States.

OAKLAND PAIR TO INHERIT A BIG FORTUNE

(By Universal Service)
OAKLAND, March 3.—While she calmly discussed what she will do with the suddenly inherited fortune estimated at one hundred million dollars Mrs. Gene Langley Woods this afternoon cooked a dinner of ham and eggs.

Not many folks would talk about such a huge fortune and still be able to fry eggs without burning them. But Mrs. Woods did and her husband who works in a tire shop was more concerned over the eggs than over the coming fortune.

The money Mrs. Woods explained was accumulated by an uncle in Kimberley, South Africa. He died fifteen years ago and Mrs. Woods mother was the legal heir. She died without being notified of her good fortune.

Two years ago Frank Woods' employer Sol Weston head an appeal on the radio for information about relatives of the Kimberley diamond magnate.

"We investigated, by poor brother who since died yesterday I learned for certain that we are the heirs to the money," the ham and eggs cook said as she deftly flipped the eggs over.

"It seems like a dream—oh dear. Its so much I hardly know what to do with it all."

"I'll help people who have had as hard a life as I have for one thing," she said.

KLAN AND DRYS ARE BARRED ON MURDER JURY

SALINAS, March 3.—A jury to try Simon Dubé and Paul Brokaw for the murder of Deputy Sheriff N. H. Roder, who was killed at Moss Landing during a liquor raid there, was chosen and care was exercised to exclude from it all Ku Klux Klan members and also those in favor of the Volstead act.

Eleven men and a woman were named as the jury. The woman is Miss Ramonada Riana, accountant in a Salinas bank. Perry Newberry of Carmel, waiter and leader in Carmel's politico-social activities is one of the eleven men to survive the K. K. K. and Volstead law tests. The other men that compose the jury are farmers from the country surrounding Salinas and averaging forty years in age. Two alternates were chosen. The trial is expected to continue for a month.

Questions used the examination of the jurors consisted of: Are you opposed to circumstantial evidence? Do you belong to the K. K. K.? Have you contributed anything to the Volstead law or any agency engaged in its enforcement? Only those who could answer these questions in the negative were passed as jurors.

FIFTY YEAR-OLD ROMANCE IS TO BE RENEWED

(By Universal Service)
By A. HAROLD NOON

OAKLAND, Calif., March 3.—Like a love song at its best is the renewal of the fifty-year-old romance of Bennett Seymour, 72, and Mrs. Sarah Clark, 69, which will culminate in their marriage here on Sunday next.

Fifty-two years ago, both were residents of Central City, Colo. A lover's quarrel separated them. They drifted apart, Seymour, then a lad of 20, went to Denver and entered business. He became wealthy. His sweetheart remained in Central City, married and raised a happy family.

After the death recently of their respective mates the memories of their youthful romance blossomed into love. Their marriage on Sunday at the home of Mrs. Walter Petersen here will be attended by Oakland relatives of the couple.

Their honeymoon will include a tour of California after which the couple will go home to Denver to enjoy the love that was smoldered in the heart of each for half a century.

"I'm the happiest man in his world," declared Seymour as his kindly eyes smiled upon Mrs. Clark.

"Well, I'm mighty happy too," replied the prospective bride.

Congress Asked To Investigate Leak On Decision

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Congressional investigation of the alleged leak to Wall street of the Interstate Commerce commission decision in the Nickel Plate rail merger was demanded in a House resolution today by Representative Black, Democrat, of New York. Black asked appointment of a House committee of five members to determine if some market manipulators had information in advance of press reports.

At the same time a House resolution today by Representative Black, Democrat, of New York, asked appointment of a House committee of five members to determine if some market manipulators had information in advance of press reports.
